

Hoover Names Five To Investigate Navy League Chief's Charges

ASSERTIONS OF GARDINER TO BE CENTER OF QUIZ

Committee Lays Plans for Probing Statements Made by League's Head

Washington (AP)—The committee named by President Hoover to investigate the truth of statements by the navy league regarding the naval policy was announced today as the chief of the committee, John Hays Hammond, one of the members, could not be found. Two other members let it be known they would not accept the chairmanship.

Washington (AP)—On the hastily hewed bench of a five-man court, President Hoover's contention that the spokesman of a big navy group spoke falsely and should apologize.

So swiftly did the president act, after receiving a membership list of the Navy League late yesterday, that not until today could the chosen committee lay plans for placing on trial disputed statements by William H. Gardiner, president of the league.

The five men named are Assistant Secretary Jahncke of the navy, John Hays Hammond, retired mining engineer; and Elliott Wadsworth, of the president's emergency relief committee, all of whom were listed as members of the Navy League. The two non-league members are Undersecretary Castle of the state department and Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired.

Their inquiry, a statement from the White House said, must be "solely into the merits of fact" made by Gardiner, and not into his "opinions or conclusions."

The league president had accused Mr. Hoover as an "abysmal ignorance of why navies are maintained." The league pamphlet, under his name, contained other bristling statements, too, which could be classed as opinions or conclusions.

Adams Visits Hoover

Just about the time the president was pondering over his committee, Secretary Adams injected his views into the controversy for the first time. Earlier in the day he had conferred with Mr. Hoover.

Adams charged Gardiner with descending "from the high plane of dignified discussion to that of personal attack upon the commander-in-chief of the navy, the president; a procedure which I deeply resent."

"Without going into details," he said, "I take the liberty of saying the pamphlet is full of misleading statements."

There is considerable speculation as to just how far the five-man court named by the president will go. For one thing, it was directed specifically, to examine the accuracy only of such statements by Gardiner as may be readily determined from departmental records.

In addition, it was warned away not only from Gardiner's opinions and conclusions, but also from "budgetary or general policies of the navy."

The Navy League leader claimed directly, for instance, that President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald in 1929 reached agreements that never have "been divulged in their entirety," and that the administration refused to allow an executive session of the senate foreign relations committee to view the full record of negotiations prior to the London naval conference.

These statements have been labeled a "tissue of falsehoods" by Secretary Stimson.

Gardiner hinted also that the proposal of Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy, for a one year arms holiday actually was inspired by the Hoover administration, and that if this government accepts the proposal "it does knowing that its action specifically serves British and Japanese interests."

Attacks "Starving" Charge

Secretary Adams yesterday attacked particularly Gardiner's statement that the president was motivated by a desire to restrict, reduce and starve the navy at every turn under the plea of budget limitation.

"The budget limitations for 1933, which have effected a saving of over $50,000,000," Adams said, "have not

Doubt Five Confessions In Missouri Murder Case

St. Louis (AP)—St. Louis officials today cast a dubious eye on all five confessions made by Clara Fish, 19-year-old domestic, in the razor slaying of Mrs. Reba Maddux in a lonely woods near here last Thursday and attempted to obtain still another statement from her which would clear up numerous alleged discrepancies.

The girl, held in the county jail at Clayton without bond on a first-degree murder charge, continued to insist she told the whole story in her final statement—that she lured Mrs. Maddux to the woods, anesthetized her and that Walter Maddux, the woman's husband, killed her in order that he might be free to marry Miss Fish, a roomer in the Maddux home in suburban Webster Groves.

Maddux, held in the same jail as a "suspect of murder," steadfastly maintained Miss Fish "is lying" in implicating him. Maddux was taken to jail late yesterday after he attended the funeral of his wife.

Chief of Police George Schroeder of Kirkwood, near where the slaying occurred, said he placed little credence in the confession implicating Maddux.

Dr. C. E. Barnett, county health commissioner, said it was a "physical impossibility" for the slaying to have occurred as the girl related in her last confession. She said she administered ether to Mrs. Maddux before 4 o'clock p. m. last Thursday and that Maddux went to the woods after 7 o'clock that night and slashed her throat with a razor. The woman would not have remained unconscious for more than an hour, Dr. Barnett said.

Still another statement was thrown yesterday into the controversy. It was asserted in an authoritative quarter, in explanation of the president's latest move, that he was "not interested in Mr. Gardiner's opinion or abuse," but was "desirous that the correct facts with respect to the navy be disseminated to the people."

What action the Navy League itself will take in the matter probably will remain unsettled until Thursday. The executive committee of the organization will meet here then to decide upon a course. One member of this committee, Henry Breckenridge of Chicago, assistant secretary of war under President Wilson, already has moved to "dissociate" himself from any personal attack upon the president.

Other members of the league have remained silent. Although a list of the organization's membership was delivered to the White House late yesterday, only the names of Jahncke, Wadsworth and Hammond were made known.

Lion Of Judah Observes First Year Of Reign

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie, king of kings and conquering lion of Judah, celebrated today the first anniversary of his coronation as ruler of Abyssinia, the last independent empire in Africa.

The ceremony was almost as elaborate as the extravagant festivities which marked the coronation last year. It began at dawn as the garison boomed out a thundering salute and the celebration had started.

The black-bearded descendant of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba attended stately religious services with his baron queen and their numerous children at St. George cathedral where his regal robes, imperial crown and sceptre were displayed.

The little sovereign rode in triumph through streets crowded with his subjects, using the golden state coach which he bought from the former William of Germany for $10,000.

At the head of the royal procession walked dignitaries of the Coptic church, carrying incense burners and candles and chanting the Ethiopian ritual in the native Amharic tongue. Six hundred white-robed Abyssinian priests followed them on foot.

Foreign diplomats in their conventional European dress contrasted strangely with the thousands of Abyssinian tribesmen wearing lion's skins, head dresses of lion manes and carrying rhinoceros hide shields and sinister weapons.

Officials of the American legation had places of honor. Afterward a banquet of raw meat was spread in the open for the 10,000 braves.

In the evening there was a lavish banquet for the foreign officials and a spectacular display of American fireworks.

COMMON COUNCIL EATS, DISCUSSES WEIGHTY PROBLEMS

Properly fed and free of the binding ties of parliamentary procedure, the common council, at its first informal meeting of the year, leisurely discussed city problems at a dinner meeting at Hotel Northern Monday evening. The proposed street department building and the unemployment relief measure—storm sewer installation—several knotty disingent cases, and the WFMJ radio program for Appleton were discussed. No decisions were made, but a number of wrinkles were ironed out of old problems and several subjects were made ready for formal council presentation. The next informal meeting will be held the last Monday in November instead of the first Monday in December, so the informal meeting can precede the first December meeting of the council.

NAN BRITTON'S SUIT IS APPROACHING END

Her Testimony Among Last To Be Offered at Hearing in Toledo

Toledo, Ohio (AP)—Although held behind closed doors, the trial of Nan Britton's $50,000 libel suit against C. A. Klunk, Marion hotel operator, today was believed approaching the end.

Newspapermen and the public were barred from the courtroom yesterday, but it was intimated that Miss Britton, who claims the late President Harding was the father of her 12-year-old daughter, would take the witness stand today. With her testimony, it was understood the evidence would be nearly completed.

The case, however, has become one of merely showing the extent of the publication of the book, "The Answer to the President's Daughter," under a ruling by Federal Judge John M. Killits. Judge Killits held that the book, accusing her of degeneracy, had libeled Miss Britton's character.

Miss Britton, who set forth her charges of her daughter's paternity in the book, "The President's Daughter," sued Klunk on the ground that he helped circulate "The Answer to the President's Daughter."

Judge Killits closed the trial to all except the principals on the ground that too many spectators had been represented as attending the sessions in the hope of hearing lascivious testimony.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold: whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime? Adv.

SUBMIT COPIES OF REFERENDA FOR C. C. VOTE

Measures Carry Proposals on Business, Employment, Stabilization

Copies of two referenda of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce have been received here by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, according to Kenneth H. Corbett, secretary. Member organizations of the national chamber throughout the country have begun voting on the two measures carrying proposals looking to business and employment stabilization. One of the referenda is being taken on a report by the chamber's committee on Continuity of Business and Employment and the other on a report by its Natural Resources committee.

The former committee analyzes conditions producing instability in business and employment, and dwells upon means for preventing excesses in business activities which bring general reversals and depression. The report proposes means under the anti-trust laws for promoting such stabilization of business activity as is in the general public interest, the setting up by business itself of a national economic council to aid all fields of business in their planning, establishment of privately sustained systems of unemployment and other benefits based upon definite reserves previously established, and other measures upon which the membership will vote. The report deals both with long-range problems and with the immediate situation.

Propose Relief
The report of the National Resources committee proposes relief in emergencies for the natural resource industries, such as coal, oil, and lumber, by setting up a government tribunal which would permit agreements for curtailment of production when in the public interest.

Forty-five days are allowed for completion of the vote on the chamber referendum. A two-thirds majority is required for adoption of any proposal submitted.

The specific proposals to be voted on in connection with the report of the committee on Continuity of Business and Employment, 10 in number, are as follows:

"That the anti-trust laws should be modified so as to make clear that the laws permit agreements increasing the possibilities of keeping production related to consumption. That modification of the anti-trust laws should include provision for governmental supervision in order that agreements which are not in the public interest in stabilization of business operation and employment may be nullified.

Ask Federal Advice
"That business desiring to combine should have opportunity to ascertain from a suitable government authority whether or not the proposed combination will be in violation of the anti-trust laws.

"That the principles of national economic council should be placed in effect.

"That for each field of business a representative trade association should perform the functions of an economic council.

"That aided by increased opportunity for stability of operations, each employer should so plan operations as to assure the greatest possible number of employees there will be work for the greatest possible number of weeks in the year.

"That aided by increased opportunity for stabilization, employees individually and collectively should provide adequate reserves for unemployment and other benefits for their employees.

"That through trade associations employers should make such reserves and benefits uniform throughout each field of business, in all states.

"That unemployment which now exists and may presently occur should be dealt with upon an individual basis, locally through organization to that end.

"That needed relief should be provided through private contributions supplemented by state and local governments, and without any federal appropriations for such purposes.

Propose Tribunal
The report of the Natural Resources committee presents one proposal only for a vote. This proposal is worded as follows: "That a tribunal of officials of the federal government familiar with the natural resource industries should be authorized to permit agreements for curtailment of production in such an industry during the continuance of a condition of other production found by the tribunal to be injurious to the public interest."

STRESSES NEED OF REFORM IN PRISON

More Trained Men Needed
in Field, Lawrence Students Told

"The best brains in the country must become focused on the most vital and the most human problem in our country today, that of prison reform," the Rev. Spence Burton superior of the Society of Mission Priests of St. John the Evangelist who has been in prison work for the last 24 years, told a convocation of Lawrence college students Monday morning.

Emphasizing the need of trained men in the crime prevention of crime field, Rev. Burton urged the students to take an active interest in the problems afforded by the field and endeavor to take a part in the opportunities offered by it. He enumerated four phases of work by which one might enter the "prison game": the police, probation officers, work in the prisons themselves, and parole work.

"If we can get a single police force in the United States up to the Standard of Scotland Yard or to the police of Vienna, we will have come a long way," he said. "An intelligent police force, made up of trained men will not deem the capture of criminals their chief task, but the prevention of crime their first duty."

Rev. Burton also emphasized the increasing crime wave among the women and children of the country. Stating that women and children are outdistancing the men in all proportions in regard to crime, he pointed out that 50 per cent of the crimes of violence committed in the United States in the last decade were committed by persons of both sexes, all between the ages of 15 and 25.

ADOPT NEW SYSTEM OF GRADING PUPILS

Lawrence College Believes
Plan Will Be Aid to Teachers

Lawrence college recently adopted a new grading system, to go into effect the next time the grades are issued.

The college always has used the numerical system of grading, but now it has been decided that the broader system of grading by letter as is used by most of the public schools throughout the country, is more in keeping with the present trends in education.

Students will now receive A, B, C, D, E, or F, instead of an exact numerical grade. The A grade will indicate excellent work, the B grade, work above the average, the C grade, average work, D grade, poor work, E grade, conditional, and F grade, unsatisfactory work.

It is believed that an instructor cannot determine a grade as accurately as to indicate with an

According to an announcement by President Henry M. Watson of Lawrence college Monday morning, Lawrence Memorial campus is to be open daily from 6 to 10 p. m. for the purpose of reading and there will be an organ recital throughout the period.

Madison—(AP)—What the license plates are to stolen automobiles, the tuberculosis test tags of the state department of agriculture and markets are to stolen cattle in Wisconsin. The tuberculosis test tags recently served to uncover the theft of cattle

The hides of the cattle were found in a packing plant here.

Welfare Organizations Discuss Plans For Relief Program

HOPE TO WORK OUT DETAILS NEXT THURSDAY

Debate Continues Over Proposal to Engage Social Welfare Worker

Plans for organizing a program for relief next winter were discussed at a meeting of charity and welfare organizations yesterday afternoon at the courthouse. The meeting was called by County Judge Fred V. Heinemann, who has been appointed chairman of the Citizen's Relief committee.

About 20 delegates, representing the Appleton Apostolate, Jewish Ladies Aid society, Outagamie County Chapter of American Red Cross, American Legion, and the City official's Relief organization, were present. The City Relief society, another group which had been invited, informed Judge Heinemann that it would act independently unless the proposed relief plan called for engagement of a social welfare worker. The Jewish Ladies Aid society also pointed out that it favored employment of a welfare worker.

Defends Veterans

Defense of the American Legion's proposal for a referendum on the prohibition question was the highlight of an address given here last night at the meeting of Oney Johnston post of the American Legion by Dr. C. A. Dawson, River Falls, state commander of the American Legion. He also emphasized the fact that the legion is not in politics.

STATE LEADER BACKS LEGION ON DRY STAND

Dr. C. A. Dawson Defends Veterans' Action at National Convention

"When labor voted in favor of beer, and the American medical society, the American Bar association and American bankers indicated they favor repeal of the prohibition law, no one said anything about it," Dr. C. A. Dawson, River Falls, state commander of the American Legion, told Oney Johnston post members last night. "But when the American legion in national convention asked congress to put the prohibition question before the people by a referendum, they call us a bunch of 'dirty bums'."

BET TEACHER WOULD SQUIRM TOO IF SHE WERE IN HIS SHOES

Norway, Mich. (AP)—Without doubt, eight-year-old Arthur Nelson put his foot into it: He shuffled his feet in the school room and made so much noise the teacher scolded him soundly.

"But," he explained to his mother when he got home, "my toes tickled."

Mrs. Ernest Nelson today said she removed her son's shoe and beheld—a bedraggled baby mouse much worse for wear, limped out.

U. S. MUST AID SITUATION IN EUROPE--TREVER

Says Country Should Continue International Relationship Policy

The United States should continue in international relationships along the lines carried out by President Hoover, only faster and more aggressively, Dr. A. Trever of Lawrence college told the Lions club Monday noon.

"The United States is scrambled in European affairs, especially financially," Dr. Trever said, "and should use her power and finances as a preventive against further European troubles. The United States should do anything, that will help remedy the European situation."

SEE POSSIBILITY OF NEW ROAD FOR CONGESTION RELIEF

Would Construct Highway Along Lake Shore Between Oshkosh and Fond du Lac

Possibility of the construction of an auxiliary route to handle traffic between Fond du Lac and Oshkosh is seen in the announcement by the Wisconsin Highway commission that if the county boards of Winnebago and Fond du Lac agree on the route at their November session, the latter county will be given aid in the project. The proposed auxiliary route would be along the lake shore on County Trunk A.

Should the project be approved by the county boards, the state would release the unexpended maintenance balances now standing to the credit of Fond du Lac amounting to approximately $70,000.

Fitzroy Elected Speaker Of Commons In Britain

London (AP)—The Rt. Hon. Edward Albert Fitzgerald, pretending to conceal himself on a back bench in the house of commons today, was plucked from his hiding place and hustled forward over his own make-believe protests to the seat of the presiding officer.

That is the way they elect a speaker of the house in England. Mr. Fitzroy had the job last year and now he has it again.

Madison (AP)—A two-headed snapping turtle, found on the bank of the Yahara river, near Stoughton, is exhibited with pride by Leo Halverson, 27, of Madison.

The strange specimen was caught while making its way from the river into a field. It has but a small shell which doesn't protrude far enough for the two heads to be drawn under it.

Earth Shocks Again Rock Jap Island

Nagasaki, Japan (AP)—A series of earthquakes shook portions of Kishu island again today, causing consternation among a populace already frightened by yesterday's tremors, which were the worst experienced in 30 years.

The shocks were regarded as after effects of yesterday's and did little or no damage. They spread terror, however, because Kishu island seldom experiences seismic disturbances.

The main quake, occurring at 7:05 p. m. Monday (EST), caused at least one fatality, injured several persons and did considerable property damage in Miyazaki prefecture, where it was the most severe.

At Miyazaki City, a man was killed by a falling factory chimney. More than a score were injured by collapsing houses.

At Oita City the Monday evening shock also was severe, razing a temple gate. Fissures appeared in highways and stone fences were shaken down.

Commander Dawson emphasized the fact the legion was not in politics. "It is not our business to use our own judgment. To demand that we do otherwise is unjust, for we gave up no political rights when we joined the legion."

He further defended the American legion, its policies and attitude from the charge that the legion is trying to run the country, by declaring "that if the personnel of the American legion remains in later years as it is now, then our country and your country will be safe."

In opening his talk Commander Dawson complimented Oney Johnston post on being the largest post in the state. He said the outlook for a successful year in 1932 was better than ever. He discussed the good membership outlook and emphasized the fact that rehabilitation would continue as the major task of the legion, with employment and enlargement of the safety program following.

The state commander visited in Oshkosh Sunday at the sixth district conference and came to Appleton Sunday night. He was a guest here of Marshall C. Graff, Appleton, a past state commander.

Other officers present: Dale Andrews, Kaukauna, Outagamie county council commander, Arthur Schmalz, Kaukauna, ninth district commander, and Dr. Edwin Borchardt, New London, state vice commander, also attended the meeting, the latter with a large delegation of New London veterans.

The construction would begin at Marquette's corners, about four miles south of Oshkosh. It would follow the lake shore, but instead of following highway 41 at North Fond du Lac as is now the case, a relocation would be provided, bringing the road into Fond du Lac on Scott-st east of the railroad tracks.

While the highway would go through some marshy land, the main portion of it would be a picturesque highway because of its proximity to the lake.

While the new road would not relieve congestion from Oshkosh to Marquette's corners, it would divide traffic for the greater share of the way and would bring relief to a section serviced by a narrow stretch of road between Marquette's and North Fond du Lac.

The paving of county trunk A appears as the only project at present on which the two county boards and highway committees may agree as a solution to the traffic problem.

SUBMIT CHAMBER STAND ON ISSUE TO SCHNEIDER

An expression of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce stand in favor of the proposed sale of Muscle Shoals has been submitted in a letter to Congressman George J. Schneider, according to Kenneth E. Corbett, secretary. The Appleton chamber voted in favor of the proposal of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce referendum on that issue on Dec. 6, 1930, and recently reaffirmed its stand at a meeting of the board of directors, it was pointed out.

Since the original action, it was stated, President Hoover, in his veto of the proposed government sale suggested, that Tennessee and Alabama appoint commissioners to act with the presidential appointees from the War Department, and national farm organizations to determine the practicability of leasing these properties.

The couple was wed on Aug. 6, 1913, at DePue, and separated Oct. 29, 1930. Judge V. Werner took the case under advisement.

MAHONEY DIRECTS HOMECOMING PLANS

Appleton Delegation Going to Marquette Activities Over Weekend

Richard Mahoney, Appleton, has been appointed chairman for this community of plans for the 1931 Marquette university homecoming in Milwaukee, Nov. 4, 7, and is arranging for a delegation of Outagamie county alumni at the old grads' festivities, this next weekend.

Mr. Mahoney was graduated from the Marquette college of business administration in 1925, and while in the university was prominent in the activities of Alpha Gamma Phi fraternity.

The Marquette homecoming has as its feature this fall an inter-sectional football game between the Golden Avalanche and the strong Washington and Jefferson eleven of Washington, Pa. The game will start at the Marquette stadium at 2 p. m. on Saturday, Nov. 7, and will be the magnet which will draw alumni to Milwaukee over the weekend.

Homecoming activities are scheduled to open with the annual student-faculty alumni dance at the Eagles' ballroom in Milwaukee Wednesday night. Seven hundred couples are expected to attend.

Thursday has been set aside for class reunions, while the student body swings into action Friday night with the annual football parade through Milwaukee's downtown section. Marquette departments, fraternities and sororities will compete for prizes which will be awarded for the best and most original floats. The parade will be formed on E. Wisconsin-ave, near the post-office, and will proceed west to the Hilltop stadium.

A new homecoming feature will follow this parade. It will be a floodlight football game between the Marquette freshmen and the Ripon college freshmen in the stadium, starting at 8:45 p. m., Friday.

The homecoming highlight, of course, will be the grid battle with Washington and Jefferson, but the old grads' gayety reaches a climax that night as the annual formal alumni dinner dances will be held at the Milwaukee Elks' club. Alfred Ecks, a law graduate, is alumni chairman of homecoming.

NO PROBLEM HERE
For more than a month the common council has been wrestling with a problem that never should have been before it for consideration. It is the demand of motion picture operators that the city compel, by ordinance, the employment of two persons in every motion picture projection booth during a public performance.
The only argument that possibly can be considered in behalf of this type of class legislation is that public safety is involved, and even this argument is untenable in the present instance because motion picture projection booths must conform to the strict code of the Wisconsin Industrial commission. This commission has gone to great pains to insure safety of both patrons and operators.
If there is reason to believe that public safety is in any way involved the entire matter should be referred to the industrial commission. The common council should not be expected to pass upon this matter.

APPLETON'S ASSESSMENT
With an assessment approximating the actual salable value of all the taxable property in the city, Appleton now is in an excellent taxation position. When the board of review voted a blanket reduction of 15 per cent from the assessment made by the Wisconsin Tax commission it completed, except for some minor adjustments always necessary in a work of this magnitude, the extremely difficult task of putting all taxable property on a comparable basis.
While a number of protests have arisen from the revaluation, their ratio to the total number of assessments is extremely small, and the vast majority were based on a claim that the assessments were in excess of what the property would bring at an ordinary sale. There were relatively few protests that property was assessed out of proportion to neighboring properties.
The general reduction of 15 per cent had the effect of nullifying practically all the complaints that properties were assessed higher than actual values, except possibly in the assessment of "special purpose" improvements that are valuable only for the purposes for which they were intended, but which will bring considerably less if sold in the open market. Some adjustments still must be made in these types of properties if inequalities are to be eliminated.
The principal purpose of the reassessment was to place all taxable properties on the tax roll on a comparable basis, and in that respect the assessment was a splendid success and worth all that it cost the city. Indeed, it is quite possible that the revenue accruing to the city from properties that up to now have not been paying proportionate taxes will more than pay the cost of the assessment this year, and will result in clear gains in future years. There certainly can be no cause for complaint from a property owner whose assessment has been placed on a parity with his neighbor, especially if he has been paying less than his just share of taxes in previous years.
After a year's experience with the new tax roll it is quite likely that property holders will be quite in agreement that the reassessment was the most salutary action the city has taken in a decade. The benefits arising from an assessment at or very near actual sales values outweigh such disadvantages as some persons believe are attached to a high ratio of assessment to true value. The increased bonding capacity resulting from the assessment is not a menacing situation. The danger is not in the bonding power of the city, but rather in the abuse of that power, and whether this power is abused rests entirely with the intelligent electorate of Appleton.
On the other hand, with assessments approximating true values, subquent assessments can be made on the basis of what properties actually can be sold for on the open market, without computations on a percentage basis. Inequalities that are likely to creep in from endeavoring to fix assessments on some ratio to true values are practically eliminated. New properties now can go on the tax roll at a figure that approximates their actual value, and not a percentage of that value. Assessments will be what the law intends they shall be, a true measure of each property's share in the cost of government.

A BEAR AND A LAMB
Until recently we had in this world a cussing, fire-eating, teeth-gnashing, swashbuckling nation, constantly throwing missiles, on the lookout, really just spoiling for a fight, but unable to induce any other nation to enter the lists.
Russia has bullied, snarled, threatened, defied.
It has preached to its own people an unparalleled line of distortion about other nations, their claimed hatred of the Russian people, their alleged plots and cabals to destroy Russian liberty, meantime building and entertaining an impressive army with all essential accouterments.
But other nations have been too busy licking the wounds from the last conflict and trying desperately to devise a system of checks and guards to prevent a recurrence of war to pay attention to her insolent misbehavior.
All at once and with lightning rapidity the scenes change.
Japanese and Russian interests touch in Manchuria. Japan has an army there. Japan is angry. Her soldiers have been sniped at. Her civilians have had their throats cut.
The Japs are using pointed language towards the Russians. But Russian belligerency, in the face of actual conflict, has ceased to exist.
The Japanese ambassador at Moscow declared to the Russian government that he has evidence indicating that Russia is helping foment trouble for Japan, doing it of course slyly, craftily like a skulking alley assassin. His note concluded with this sharp sentence, very sharp for a diplomatic note: "Thus arises the danger that the sphere of conflict might be enlarged."
There is a distinct threat in that sentence, a threat the Soviet plainly sees.
But the Soviet is no longer writing articles for newspapers or talking over the air. Battles cannot be fought with quills. Words are worthless in the face of bayonets. Abuse won't stop a bullet.
Russia remembers a war in 1905 and how a Russian army greatly outnumbered the Japs, was trapped and compelled to surrender, and how the Russian navy still lies at the bottom of the China sea.
There is no longer any bluster. There is no braggadocio. The Soviet answers that its policy is peaceful and it wishes to handle the matter consistently "with the interest of world peace."
The Russian bear no longer growls. We hear nothing but the bleat of a little lamb, not a white but a yellow lamb.
And the moral is that anyone may be courageous-until he is faced with a fight.
But the friends of Russia look at the matter from a different angle. In proof of Russia's attempt at reformation they point to the fact that she has largely eliminated human slaughter as a punishment for political differences of opinion, that she has adopted the system of capitalism in the matter of rewards for merit, and that she is now honestly working for peace as the wisest and best policy for states to follow, keeping up meanwhile a barrage of lurid talk merely for home consumption.
That may be true. Let us hope it is true. But in the meantime it were unwise to be too trusting.

Opinions Of Others
AN EXCELLENT REPORT
"For a period extending practically over two and a half months not a single child has been killed in a street or highway accident in which the motor vehicle has participated," stated Stanley Livingston, treasurer of the Honolulu Automobile club, after a study of the accident and fatality statistics kept at motor club headquarters.
"This is a record that excels any period of similar length in years and shows that progress is being made both in convincing drivers that they must exercise through areas where children are at play and in having the boys and girls understand that they must look both ways before they cross the street."—Honolulu Advertiser.

NOTHING BUT A LAMB
A NOTHER illusion has gone the way of Santa Claus, the Easter Rabbit and the stork . . . that's the one about staying home on Monday morning . . . Sunday night the Doc looked at our pulse and our temperature . . . "Hmmm, you've got polychloro persona non grata" (or something like that) . . . "and you're going to go right to bed and stay there" . . . "No, no, Doc," we protested . . . "how can the paper go to press tomorrow without US?" . . . "That should be the least of your worries," said the Doc without batting an eye . . . which left us so weak that we were willing to crawl under and stay . . . but we started out to shatter that illusion about staying home Monday morning . . . it's no fun . . . there are bill collectors, salesmen and wrong numbers on the telephone . . . there are recipes and advice to the housewife on the radio . . . the furnace goes out . . . there are phone calls from the boss . . . "Stay home 'till you get better . . . swell, but are we or are we not needed around the place?" . . . wonder how a jail or a hospital would be? . . .

"GETS ALONG WITH LIONS AND TIGERS BUT NOT HIS WIFE" (headline)
Since when was something like that supposed to be news?
The Expert Is Not Yet a Bum
Out of fourteen predictions, our football expert was wrong in two of his predictions. The other twelve were correct and there were no ties. To date his season's record is 27 wins, 7 losses and 2 ties. On the weather and attendance he was close in every prediction, except for attendance at the Chicago-Purdue game. As a matter of fact, his weather predictions didn't even get in the paper because Dick, the hard-hearted make-up man, tossed out that paragraph to make room for Edgar A. Guest.

Good new number—"Time on My Hands."
And—"Faded Summer Love."
(This Is a Quote)
That's right—Edison was the greatest inventor the world has ever known, but he didn't invent anything to keep his heirs from fighting over his estate after he left.
Eugene O'Neill has written and had produced a new play. From what we hear, it takes six hours to put the performance across and at the end of the time, the psychopathic hospitals of the vicinity do an increased business. Very morbid. Tillie, very morbid.

LINES FOR POPULAR SONGS
A song should tell a story so the publishers declare, And there should be a snappy line to fit a catchy air. So here are lines a-plenty to the music writers tossed: "Some may call you red-hot Mabel, but to me you're just a frost!"

Personal Health Talks
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

DR. COMAN DID NOT GET PNEUMONIA
Remember the news from Antiochia about the antics of young Dr. Coman who liked to play around down there with nothing on when the temperature was 40 below zero? Well, so far it seems he has developed neither pneumonia nor rheumatism. But then, he is young yet. When I was his age I looked forward eagerly to the time when I should know much more than I did then. Many of my elders had assured me such a time would come, tho it didn't seem possible to me then. But now I begin to fear it was just another illusion. I don't think I know a bit more than I did when I was thirty. Millions of people younger than I have a delusion that Dr. Coman took a big chance of getting pneumonia, and some of 'em are physicians.
Not long after Dr. Coman did his crazy stunt down south an inconspicuous stick of type told about a handful of brave men at Cambridge, Mass., who had tried their dauntless to catch cold in the traditional manner—working up a sweat at tropical temperature, then going right out in the cold winter air with nothing much on—and the results of the experiment were nil. I call them brave men because they were all doctors and undoubtedly some of them harbored the delusion that the stunt was dangerous.
Only a few doctors, I fear, are as yet ready to admit that such exposure involves no danger aside from that of freezing or frostbite. That in itself is dangerous, in a doctor, for if the doctor is a little afraid of cold air his patients are not likely to enjoy all the benefits of open air life and open air treatment.
Of course it may be that I'm the crazy one and all the rest of the world is sane about exposure to cold. If you're really crazy you're the last to realize it; if you just think you're going crazy or off your nut, that is pretty good evidence that you're not. I don't think I'm insane.
The other night the thoughtful quiet of our stroll was rudely broken when Tony the Inquisitive came upon something in a neighbor's garden. From the commotion I deduced the perpetual pup had caught another "police" dog at least. But when he dragged it out under the light it proved to be a wise old rat that didn't seem so wise now. My first impression that it was a "police" dog was an illusion. Had I called witnesses and insisted that it was a "police" dog, that would be a delusion. Had I refused to be so terribly sorry about it and bewailed that the Troublesome Terrier had killed my mother-in-law, that would be a hallucination and they'd run me in for a lunacy examination forthwith.
Sane folk often have illusions. Only the insane have delusions or hallucinations. Many times an insane person has his delusions so thoroughly systematized that he can construct a sane person about the subject. So keen are some insane persons that they can convince judges and juries and win freedom from detention—to go out and commit some atrocity.
So I carry on, assured that I am right about the harmlessness of exposure to cold and wet, and all who imagine there is danger in it are a little insane.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Another Remedy for Ringworm of Feet
Your remedy, salicylic acid and alcohol, for athlete's foot is unexcelled. (M. S.)
Answer—Still, many victims think Whitfield's ointment, photographer's fixing agent (sodium hyposulfite), plain gasoline, or some other remedy is best. There are more remedies for this pandemic fungus infection than there are names for the trouble. "Athlete's foot" is the numbskull name for it. French foot is a name it received during the war. Trichophytosis is a medical name for it. Foot itch is a common name for it. Patrons of public or semi-private swimming pools, shower baths, gymnasiums pass the infection around by walking barefoot on the floor or ground. The formula M. S. praises is, I think, one suggested by Whitfield for use in the daytime (the Whitfield ointment being applied by night.

Benzoid acid . . . . . 1 1/2 drams.
Salicylic acid . . . . . 1 dram
Acetone . . . . . 1 ounce
Diluted alcohol, to make four ounces
Petting
Am I instructing my growing girls truthfully? I tell them that "petting" results in spoiled figures, etc. (Mrs. G. C.)
Answer—Unwisely, I should say, for the girls can just look around and see for themselves that it is not so. I don't know how you should instruct them. It depends upon their education and environment. There is one truth they may be told, and that is, no man cares to marry a woman whom he thinks other men may have "petted." When a man marries he likes to feel that he is getting something not showperv or slightly used.

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran
THE Tynmites slept very sound. No wonder! 'Twas because they found the bed they snored in nice and soft and they were all tired out. The Travel Man, who tucked them in, waited in at dawn and spread a grin. And then he woke the whole bunch with a loud good morning shout.
"Wake up!" he cried. "Hop to your feet. Get dressed and we'll step out to eat. The sun, just rising o'er the hill, is beautiful to see. The morning air will bring you pep, when right out into it you step. We mustn't waste time sleeping. There are heaps we want to see."
"Okay!" replied the Tynmites. "We're always ready for new sights." Then they jumped. It didn't take them very long to dress. "And now for breakfast," Scouty cried. "And, after that, a walk, or ride, I'm going to eat an awful lot. I'm nearly starved, I guess."
Hot buckwheat cakes were served the bunch. "Gee, we will never want much lunch," said Clowny, as he started in. "We'll eat too much right here. I fear, when I eat, finally through, just loafing's all I'll want to do. I hope, when we walk out, that we will find a park bench near."
But he was not as bad as that. "Cause for an hour they simply sat and rested in the restaurant. The Travel Man then said, "Come, lads, we'll walk along the street and see what strangers we can meet." They'd hardly reached outdoors till Coop shouted, "Look ahead!"
"That man is surely loaded down. I don't see how he gets around." The fellow he referred to had large traces on his back. Then Scouty said, "They're earthenware. That man is strong. He doesn't care how much they weigh. I'd think that he would drop right in his track."

There's at least one advantage in being a genius. You can go without a hair cut without comment.
If there's any truth in that "sweetheart in every port" stuff, those English sailors protested their wage cut in self-defense.
Now they're treating tooth cavities by diet. Might not be a bad idea to treat stomach cavities the same way.
The government is lining up to prosecute tax plotters. Well, maybe the line had to be drawn somewhere.
The expert who said pie is not made of dough alone would probably admit that neither is a bank roll.

Seen And Heard In New York
BY WILLIAM GAINES
New York—It was the sort of informal literary gathering one seldom has the good fortune to attend. There were no boric present.
Courtney Ryley Cooper, author of several books about circus life, was going strong.
He was asked to recite the most amusing experience he ever had in the show world. Having ripped off the show classic name already, Cooper pondered, weighed his affair in which he was the tattoo man's rival for the love of the fire eating lady, then concluded:
"Looking back on it now, I guess my funniest experience with a show was my first, although it seemed quite a tragedy to me at the time."
Pursuing Villains
At the age of 15 Cooper ran away from home to Kansas City to join one of the old ten-twenty-two shows, which displayed its repertoire of horrific melodrama under canvas.
In Bevier, a Missouri coal mining town, the opener was "Jack of Diamonds," a blood curdler featuring a three-cornered pistol duel.
Sad to relate the property chests had been emptied of blank cartridges at the last stand, and Cooper, who looked after the props, went out to buy some.
"But all of the shooting done in Bevier was intended to be serious. There was no blanks to be obtained."
In such emergencies it was the practice of property men to bore the lead out of shells and insert a bit of candle tallow in the aperture. "Go out and get some wax," the stage manager instructed him when young Cooper reported his predicament.
Came the big scene, with two villains advancing upon the hero as he embraced the over-size heroine. The gasping audience was tense as the master villain made the menacing hip gesture in the light of those flickering oil lamps.
"Bang!" Our hero's gun spoke first; he'd beaten the scoundrel to the draw.
"Ouch!" yelled the heavy. That was in the script.
"He shot!" some one in the audience screamed as the thespian instead of falling, made his way to the wings with his forehead all red, as with blood.
A Sealed Romance
But the show must go on. One slug of lead can't stop a stage slaughter. As the elephantine heroine ambled excitedly about the boards the guns of the hero and the second villain barked.
"Ve gods!" the hero shouted as he grabbed his stomach. He had aimed his own suspected pistol away from the remaining villain; the discharge struck that frantically rushing, buxom love interest squarely. When she screamed, the curtain fell.
Pandemonium reigned. The stage manager had young Cooper by the nape of the neck.
"I told you to load those bullets with tallow," he shouted at me.
"I did," I whimpered. "Sealing wax!"
If British movie producers are planning on paying those American stars Hollywood wages, they'd better be planning on joining the dole line.
Most any merchant these days would admit the customer is always right—if he could find a customer.

MUST BE ACTIVE TO GAIN MEMBERSHIP IN ATHLETIC CLUB

Girls Must Secure 75 Points Before Being Eligible for Association

When girl athletes at Appleton high school are of walking two miles an hour for Girls' Athletic association points, they put on their roller skates and make the miles roll by faster. This week, aspirants to the association are working hard to obtain the necessary 75 points for membership. Initiation of eligible members is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, Nov. 12.

Girls may swim, canoe, hike, roller skate or even horseback ride their way to membership in the organization at the speed of two points a mile an hour. Additional points are awarded to members who are on class teams or participate in intramural sports. Two hikes to Kaukauna have been organized for Thursday and Friday. The hikes will be taken during the teachers' convention in Milwaukee. Miss Mamie Chall will see the Thursday afternoon pace, starting at 1 o'clock from the high school. Miss Josephine Freude is in charge of the second hike Friday afternoon, this group meeting at N. Sampson and E. Pacific.

Six Years Old
The Girls' Athletic association was organized in the high school physical education department six years ago. Last year was the most successful year, with the largest membership and greatest number of awards among the members. The present group numbers 63, but many newcomers will be eligible for membership for the first semester.

Athletic awards in the group are won by the point system, with the highest award being the school letter for 1,000 points. It usually takes two years of athletic work to obtain the high award. The first emblem for 150 points is earned in any sport; the second is a medal for 600 points. In order to win the school letter, each girl must have been a member of a first team in one sport for two seasons or a substitute player, as well as earn the necessary points for the award.

Interclass and intramural tournaments are held each year in hockey, basketball, volleyball and baseball. Gymnasium class teams are playing off the intramural schedule in hockey at the present time. Players for class teams will be chosen from the various intramural teams for the second hockey series.

Miss Germaine Rammer is the president, with Miss Lenora May, physical education director, the faculty sponsor. Other officers include Miss Ruth Weinkauf, vice president; Miss Della Van Den Bosch, treasurer; Miss Mamie Chall, secretary. Heads of the various sports are Miss Marie Radtke, hockey; Miss Mamie Chall, basketball; Miss Delphine Vander Heyden, volleyball; Miss Joan Peotter, golf.

GERMAN LETTERS EXPRESS GOOD WILL

Milwaukee—(P)—Letters from German war veterans expressing good will toward American war veterans will be taken to three patriotic meetings in Wisconsin the week of Armistice Day by the Rev. Gustav Stearns, Milwaukee, former chaplain of the 127th Infantry, 32nd division, A. E. F.

German soldiers for whom the Rev. Stearns performed humanitarian and religious services have sent expressions of good will which they have asked him to transmit to American veterans. Among those who have written to him are Germans who were prisoners in an American hospital on Christmas day in 1918. The chaplain conducted yuletide services for them.

At 10 a. m. Nov. 10 the Rev. Mr. Stearns will speak in Central high school, Madison, at the unveiling of a picture of the late Capt. Myron Chester West, who was mortally wounded at Dravegny, north of Chateau Thierry. Before entering the army Capt. West was head of the mathematics department of the high school. Chaplain Stearns was in the battle in which Capt. West fell.

At noon on Nov. 10 the Rev.

Stearns will talk at a luncheon of the Lion's club in Janesville. The next evening he will speak at an Armistice day banquet of the American legion post at Appleton.

FATAL DRINK BET

Oshkosh, Wis.—Fred Schneider, saloon keeper, bet Harvey E. Walters that he could drink more straight alcohol than anyone. Walters said he himself, would drink with Schneider. ## REPORT 22 NEW CASES OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Madison—(P)—There were 22 new cases of infantile paralysis reported in Wisconsin during the week ending Oct. 24, or 15 less than for the preceding week, the state board of health said today. Two new counties were added to the widespread area covered by the disease. They are Rusk and Green Lake which reported one each. Only eight of the 71 counties remain free of the disease this year. They are Ashland, Burnett, Forest, Kewaunee, Lincoln, Marinette, Shawano and Vilas.

PLAN MEETS FOR SYRUP PRODUCERS

Better Quality and Marketing Practices to Be Discussed

Madison—(P)—Improved marketing practices and quality in the maple syrup industry is the object of a series of meetings being held in various counties during the next two weeks.

State Marketing Specialist James Gwin announced that meetings will be held in Pierceco, Nov. 17, Chippewa-co, Nov. 18 and Clark county Nov. 2.

"While the rank and file of our producers are putting out a strictly pure product," Gwin said, "the consuming public is led to believe that there is little pure maple syrup in Wisconsin. A uniform product in standard containers would materially increase consumption."

Butter exhibits at the eighth-first state fair indicate that district creamery organizations offer the most rapid means of raising the quality of Wisconsin butter, according to Chief Chemist Harry Klueber.

"It is apparent from the group exhibit class that both quality and composition can be easily controlled by a group of creameries under proper supervision," he said. He described as disappointing the 197 exhibits from 517 butter factories at the fair. Only one fifth of the creameries were sufficiently interested in the dairy exhibit to put forth enough effort to show at the fair, he said.

E. L. Chambers, state entomologist says that a twenty year record for number and kinds of insect injury was set during the past summer.

"The greatest injury was done by grasshoppers, army worms, cut worms and corn ear worms, which occurred in epidemic numbers in many counties," he said. "They caused enormous losses to corn, small grain, hay, tobacco and other crops. These losses were the result of a hot, dry season favorable for insect development which followed a mild winter that all but many insects to survive. A lack of natural insect parasites also allowed the pests to thrive."

Chambers warned that 1932 will be as bad if the weather is the same. While the number of turkeys in the United States is larger this year than last the crop in Wisconsin is estimated to be about two per cent smaller. The state has 8,000 farms producing turkeys and the annual crop is about 150,000 head.

T. B. BIGGEST THREAT BETWEEN AGES OF 20-40

Madison—The life of the average Wisconsin resident between the ages of 20 and 40 is threatened more by tuberculosis than any other cause of death, a bulletin issued by the state board of health has revealed.

After 40, heart disease and cancer replace tuberculosis in causing death in Wisconsin, the report said. Although tuberculosis, cancer and heart disease each caused more deaths during 1930 than accidents, the latter is increasing while tuberculosis is gradually being reduced.

A total of 3,149 children under one year of age died during 1930, but this figure was 175 less than in 1929. Accidents caused more deaths in the five to 14 year age group than any other factor, with 201 children killed in accidents out of a total of 929 deaths in the group.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Try To Find Reason For Obstinacy

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I don't know what to do with my child. He is four years old and obstinate as his grandfather. Do children inherit obstinacy? If I tell him to come to me he sits down wherever he happens to be. If I want him to come in it is better to tell him to stay out. Any attempt to force him to obey results in a scene. I am about worn out."

Try telling him to do just as he pleases and leaving him to do it. It is usually of little importance whether he comes to you or sits on the floor. Life will go on as before. What is important is that he learn to think right. The feeling of opposition that he is cultivating is not healthy and it is important that we teach him that opposition is needless.

"Would you give a child his own way?" You know better than to ask that. I would let him go his way only to help him to a better way. I would not stand by to see him hurt himself. I would keep my hands off when I thought that would help him. To keep from forcing a child to do my will is not letting him go to seed on his own.

When a child says, "No, I won't," to a perfectly reasonable request, it is often the part of wisdom to say, "Very well, my child. Don't. Then go your way. Busy yourself with some trifling thing, if you can afford the time, if not go on with your work. Let your attitude be one of pre-occupation. He is seemingly excluded from your thought. The more important you can be the sooner he will let go. His opposition ends on yours. Without support it must fail.

Do not make the mistake of maintaining an injured air. That will give him a thrill of pleasure. That feeds his spirit of battle. He wants some sort of demonstration of his power to annoy you. Keep remembering that and exclude him from your thought. When he feels you do not care, when he feels left out in the cold, no interest from any quarter coming to his relief, he soon climbs down.

It is well to take the child who is habitually contrary to the child specialist. There may be something the matter. A hidden disorder has its own way of making itself felt. The child does not understand. You cannot see the difficult, and the stubborn refusal to do anything anytime, is the child's defense against the hidden enemy.

There is another phase worth mentioning. Little children just begin-

Woman Diplomat

Men who accuse women of lacking diplomacy will have to back down on their statements now. Senora Della Robbes de Andrade has been appointed Charge D'Affaires for Panama in Cuba and is pictured here at her desk in Havana. The first Latin-American woman to assume a diplomatic post, she is the wife of the Panamanian Minister to Cuba.

ning to talk sometimes feel the limitations of their vocabulary. Whenever they doubt a thing, whenever they wish to discuss it, they have to fall back on one word to express all their feelings in connection with the idea. They say "No." When a child begins saying "No" to everything regardless of its propriety, consider this and pass over it lightly. Explain the situation, tell him a story, make him feel comfortable about this idea, and he will go right along. He isn't stubborn. Just short of words.

WILLED $250,000 BY GREAT UNCLE WHOM SHE SAW BUT ONCE

"Nothing seemed to help me. I tried everything I could hear of but my indigestion hung on for years."

"Then a friend got me to take some Paper's Diapies. I had almost immediate relief with the first two tablets. Now that I have been taking them for some time, I find I can eat meats or most anything and have no trouble. I want to tell others about Diapies because it sure helped me."

LITTLE CHANGE IS EXPECTED IN U. S. DRY ARMY

No Great Reduction Likely to Be Made in Federal Enforcement Funds

Washington—(AP)—Present prospects indicate little if any increase or decrease next year in the federal army of prohibition agents.

Every official sign maintains the government will not ask congress for additional dry agents, but will continue to enforce the law with a few more than 2,000.

The same tokens dispel possibilities of a slash in prohibition bureau appropriations comparable to the cut in navy funds that has lashed up a storm of protest.

The budget bureau has reached a decision on the money to be recommended for Director Woodcock's men during the next fiscal year. This figure is guarded with the usual secrecy but when it reaches the capitol it is not expected to be far from last year's $11,000,000 appropriation.

One major reason supporting this view is current in official circles. It is that with less than four months of activity by the 500 additional agents granted by the last congress, enforcement chiefs have been unable to gauge accurately future needs.

Too, the nearness of next year's political campaign, with both prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists aligning for battle, is accepted generally as militating against any sharp change of policy in the enforcement department.

When Woodcock went before the house appropriations committee last year, he testified there were 1,673 federal prohibition agents and asked for 500 more. Congress appropriated over $20,000,000 for the increase.

So far, with one-third more men the commissioner's forces have netted one-third more cases over the same months of the preceding year. However, the new men only went on the payroll in July and most of them began service by attending regional schools of instruction.

The director and his assistants are represented as feeling therefore, that there has hardly been sufficient time to judge accurately the full efficiency of the enlarged force, or to formulate on a sound factual basis a demand for more men.

Agent Disguised Self As Indian To Trace Slayer

Globe, Ariz. — (AP) — A young Apache cowboy is held here for the slaying of Henrietta Schermer, Columbia university anthropology student, as a result of evidence obtained by a department of justice agent, who disguised himself as an Indian.

Authorities said the prisoner, Golesey Seymour, 22, confessed he assaulted and killed the co-ed whose body was found in a ravine in the White River Apache reservation last July.

The agent, J. A. Street, a former New Mexico sheriff, dismissed his part in the arrest with the remark: "It was just in line of duty."

Street lived two months on the White River reservation, mingling with the braves, speaking their language and listening for any chance remark they might drop regarding the death of Miss Schermer, who had braved the wilds of the Indian country alone to do research work.

Seymour, employed by a cattle outfit which leases government land from the reservation, was implicated.

William Donner, superintendent of the reservation, announced yesterday the young Indian had confessed he assaulted Miss Schermer after they started from her lonely cabin to an Indian dance at White River. He killed her, he said, to "keep her from telling the white men."

Seymour was arraigned before a United States commissioner and his preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 23. Robert Gatewood who, authorities said, admitted he had seen the slaying, was held as a material witness.

Miss Schermer was the daughter of Elias Schermer, of New York. She was regarded as a brilliant student at Columbia university. The first theory in the case was that she had been murdered by Indians because of her attempt to solve tribal secrets.

SHERMAN ACT CHANGES ARE BEING URGED

Question to Be Laid Before Congress for Clarification of Laws

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1931, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Representatives of basic industries like coal, oil and lumber, are preparing to ask congress to clarify the Sherman law so that such doubt as exists now as to the right to make agreements to curtail production may be definitely resolved and thus lead to a stabilization of employment.

Arguing that the present ruinous competition was never intended to be the objective of the trust laws and that the issue is no longer whether there shall be protection against monopoly but protection against falling wage levels and cut-throat prices, the industrial leaders are sending to President Hoover and members of congress appeals that the anti-trust laws be amplified as the biggest single factor in America's economic recovery.

The president will, of course, refer to the subject in his December message to congress but it is taken for granted that he does not wish to sponsor any specific measure or even take the leadership in a legislative question as tangled as is the trust problem. He feels that congress should find the legislative solution.

Revision Favored

Democratic members of congress are as anxious as are Republicans to rid business of some of the restraints that are preventing stabilized employment. Organizations like the American Federation of Labor are recommending some revision of the Sherman law and the subject may become the outstanding topic in the emergency program.

There are differences of opinion as to how far congress should go in giving permission for exchange of data by competitors leading to curtailed production, especially since this involves price-fixing or rather possible price enhancement to a degree that the public might resent. But the proponents of the plan for curtailment of production insist that whenever prices became unreasonable or there was evidence that the curtailment of production was merely for the purpose of increasing profits beyond a fair return the machinery of the law could take care of the situation. Thus Senator Copeland of New York, Democrat, introduced a bill a year ago relating to the coal industry in which arrangements were to be made for local agreements as to production with the understanding that the district courts would take jurisdiction in the event that local associations stepped beyond the bounds of the law.

Waste is Alleged

The principal underlying the present discussion is that coal, oil, lumber and other natural resources are being wasted by over production and that some of the larger units are selling below cost of production in an effort to squeeze out competitors. Sometimes, too, when no other item of cost can be cut, the producers who are unionized and bound by wage agreements find their competitors taking advantage of them by drastic cuts in wages and selling prices that are a part of the plan to exterminate competitors. Only, however, if it can be proved that a company is obtaining a monopoly can such a situation be reached at present. While the Sherman law takes care of monopoly it does not protect against ruinous competition.

It has been suggested that a simple amendment of the present law so as to "prohibit ruinous competition," thus placing the burden of proof on the offenders that they are not engaging in such practices by under-selling may be the way out of the difficulty. This is because the administration is not likely to approve any legislation which gives the Federal Trade commission or the department of justice or any other government agency the right to pass in advance upon proposals for mergers or agreements to curtail production. The plan that is favored is one that makes the law more definite and leaves each individual on advice of counsel to decide whether his practices are within or without the law.

Jeanette MacDonald May Appear In French Comedy

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press)
Hollywood—(CPA)—It looks as though Jeanette MacDonald, who returns to Hollywood from Europe in a couple of weeks, would hardly get here before she will be making plans to skip back to Paris. She is scheduled for two pictures with Chevalier, and has half promised after these to appear for eight weeks at a government subsidized theatre in the French capital for the pleasant sum of $102,000. The news was contained in a letter received in Hollywood from Bob Ritchie, Miss MacDonald's fiancé, who added that Brussels wanted the star to sing in that city one evening for $3,400.

The high light of the MacDonald European trip is that Miss MacDonald has at last convinced her French, Belgian, and Italian public that she wasn't killed last year in a motor accident in Belgium, did not commit suicide because of a royal love affair, and has not been shot by the Italian crown prince. These remarkable rumors which have been fluttering through Europe for the last 12 months and even burst out into three books purporting to tell the inside story of the royal love affair, have evidently been laid to rest. There was even some question about permission to land in Europe until Miss MacDonald proved not only that she was actually Miss MacDonald and not an imposter and also that she had never been to Europe before.

If Miss MacDonald accepts the Paris offer for next spring, she will appear in a musical comedy done entirely in French. Meanwhile she has had the doubtful pleasure of becoming a fantastic legend, all mixed up with royalty and whatnot, for more than a year before she ever stepped toe on European soil. She has read the notices of her own tragic death a number of times, and the report is that she's none too darn well pleased with this legend stuff, either.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

If November 4th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., from 5:15 p. m. to 7 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11:20 p. m. The danger periods are from 1:50 a. m. to 3 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3:40 p. m. The astrological picture for November 4th is not clearly indicated. You do not seem to be beset with dangers—on the other hand, there are no illuminating stars of good luck shining over your head. It would be advisable to go along the even tenor of your way, and to avoid entering into any disputes. A romantic attachment is shown.

The child born on this November 4th is shown to have both reliability and affection. It will be a clear thinker, a plodding worker, a cheerful companion, and a loyal friend. Much humor and gaiety is indicated, and it will always try to have a good time through life.

Much energy and enterprise is shown in the horoscope of those born on a November 4th. You are a programmer with the times, and the attic of your brain is seldom allowed to become cluttered with the rubbish of the past. Your convictions are solid, but are not without elasticity; your ideas are positive and firm, but they are not set. You get along well with your associates because you are both tolerant-minded and understanding. You never place yourself on a saintly pedestal, or attempt a better-than-thou attitude. The kindness of your speech, the frankness of your nature, and the straight-forwardness of your actions, gain for you both the love and respect of your friends.

You seldom allow your work to get on your nerves; you do your best, and are willing to let things go at that. You do not fuss over details, but you never slight what you consider to be the essentials. You are liberal with your praise and chary with your criticism. Gossip can seldom be traced to your lips, nor a broken confidence laid at your door.

You are capable of very deep feelings, and are not ashamed to show them. You have a natural hunger for your share of love and admiration, and you become depressed when you are left out in the cold. You will be in love with love many times before you tie up with your life mate.

COMMITTEE ON POOR RELIEF MEETS TODAY

Organization to Outline Program to Be Followed Next Winter

Kaukauna—The recently appointed committee to act on charity relief here next winter will meet at 8 o'clock this afternoon in the office of Arthur M. Schultz in the Tiffin Pulp and Paper Co. mill. The committee probably will lay plans for its work and discuss methods of collecting a fund. Other committees may be appointed to carry on some of the work.

Arthur Schmalz was selected chairman by Mayor B. W. Fargo after requests from the two Kaukauna service clubs for the selection of a general committee to conduct the relief campaign. This general committee also was given permission to create any other committees essential in the drive for money for charity. While there are two similar committees in the city at present neither has authority to carry out the plan of work before the new body.

Other members of the new committee are Lester Brenzel, W. P. Haanen, H. Wolff, W. O. Kittel, William T. Sullivan and William Klumb, Jr. Members of the unemployment committee are Peter Rean, chairman, J. J. Haas, Ted Zwick, Walter Cooper, Dr. C. D. Boyd, William Harwood, William F. Ashe, and Rev. Joseph Schaefer. The ladies' group who will again collect old clothes for the needy is headed by Mrs. William Harwood. Members of the group are Mrs. B. W. ## OPEN TICKET SALE FOR CHARITY GAME

Kaukauna and Appleton High School Teams Meet on Armistice Day

Kaukauna—Sale of tickets for the charity football game between Kaukauna and Appleton high schools on the Whiting field grid-iron at Appleton on Armistice Day started today. The tickets will be handled by the Kaukauna Post No. 41 American Legion, which was instrumental in arranging the game. Five teams will control the sale of tickets here. Final instructions will be given to the teams at Tuesday evening's meeting of the legionnaires.

Lester J. Brenzel heads the sale of tickets on the south side of the city. Members of his group are Walter Lucht, Ed Marchetti and Walter Specht. George Egan will head the group on the north side, with Walter Cooper, Ray McCarty, and Bob Nagan. On the island tickets will be sold by Alfred Wagnitz, chairman, Olin G. Dryer, and Louis Faust. Dale Andrews and Arthur M. Schmalz will conduct the sale of tickets to industrial concerns other than stores. Olin G. Dryer will handle the sale of tickets to the city schools and will be aided by William T. Sullivan.

Legionnaires plan on the sale of about 3,000 or more tickets to the game. All of the legionnaires will transport members of the Kaukauna band to the game and have hired a truck to convey the instruments. They also will aid in transporting students without means of transportation. Student tickets will be placed on sale at the high school Monday. There will be no student tickets sold at the gate.

Due to the number of requests, the Kaukauna Post again will sponsor its annual ball at the Niburgle ballroom following the game. There will be no advance sale of tickets for the dance as all efforts will be centered on sale of tickets for the football game. A large crowd is expected at the dance as it is one of the outstanding social events of the season. The dance committee is headed by William T. Sullivan. Members are Fred Olin, Ed Haase, Dale Andrews, Louis Wipolt, Harry Treptow and George Egan.

When TEETHING makes HIM FUSSY

One of the most important things you can do to make a teething baby comfortable is to see that little fellows do their work of carrying off waste matter promptly and regularly. For this nothing is better than Castoria, a pure vegetable preparation specially made for babies and children. Castoria acts so gently you can give it to your infant to relieve colic. Yet it is always effective, for after all, then, too, remember, Castoria contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics — is absolutely harmless. When your baby is fretful with teething or a cold upset, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Be sure you get genuine Castoria with the name:

The pimples festered and when I put my hands in water it made them worse. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my body. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Lucille Henning, 523 1/2 S. St. Clair St., Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 15, 1931.

Northwestern Expected To Be At Height Of Power For Gophers

WILDCATS WILL PLAY RUSSELL AND KEN MEENAN

Backfield Aces Recover from Injuries; U. W. Drills on Blocks

BY WILLIAM WREKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—There was a time, and not so long ago, when Minnesota football teams were noted for huge man-power, but the Gophers will have to depend on something else against Northwestern Saturday.

The Wildcats have a bigger squad and bigger men than Minnesota, and all the fancy football Fritz Crisler and Tad Wiseman have been able to teach the Gophers in less than two seasons, will be called into use in one big effort to wreck Northwestern's title drive. Battered at Northwestern's heavy veterans line has been proven useless, and the Gophers probably will take to the air as they did against Iowa two weeks ago.

Northern will be at the height of its power for the Gophers unless injuries occur during the week. Red Russell, great fullback of the 1930 Wildcats, has recovered from an injury as have Ken Meenan, sophomore halfback, and Harold Weidman, center. Coach Dick Haney will have his backfield of six-footers—Porter, Rentner, Olson and Meenan ready to start, with Russell, Sullivan, Moore, Lewis, Bernstein and Auguston in reserve.

Glenn Blames Blocking
The Wisconsin backs who do the best blocking in practice this week will work against Illinois at Champaign. Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite laid the badgers' failure to score against Minnesota to poor blocking and that phase of the game will get most of his attention this week. The Illini are being drilled for speed in an effort to break their losing streak.

Both Michigan and Indiana, which meet at Ann Arbor, will take it easy this week, not that they do not respect each other, but to dodge injuries. The Hoosiers are working on their passing game and expect to use it plenty against the Wolverines who will rely on the same stuff they have used all season.

Iowa, which meets Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday, is seeking the big serve to throw in against the big Huskers forwards, while Noble Kizer is looking over his ends to find a replacement for Paul Calvert, who was badly injured in the Chicago game. The Boilermakers meet Centenary college and will take the Louisiana eleven in stride, with Iowa and Indiana following on successive Saturdays.

Ohio State's linemen took a battering in the Indiana game, and Coach Sam Williamson will work them lightly this week in preparation for the navy game.

Chicago, much encouraged over its great stand against Purdue, expects to win its first victory since the opening Saturday of the season, at the expense of Arkansas this week. The Maroons have shown considerable improvement in the last week, and will be strengthened by the return of Pete Zimmer, who has recovered from injuries suffered two weeks ago against Indiana.

Codfish bowlers in the Knights of Columbus league moved to the top with the Pike after last night's knocking on Elk alleys. The Codfish won three straight from the Sharks. Rev. Besche leading the winners in the first game with 169, in the second game with a similar score, and Rev. Beth in the last with a 234 count. The team scores were 950, 942, 907.

The Pike won two from the Pickered, King pacing the winners with a 539 series from games of 198, 182, 159. The count in the first game was 887 to 827 for the Pike and in the second 853 to 791 for the Pike. The Pickered victory was by a score of 838 to 800. J. Harris' 170 being the best score for the winners.

Perch bumped the Haddock for three games. Haddock's 215, 204, 156—569 doing the work. The Perch rolled 971, 943, 875—2789. For the Haddock, Harties with 151, 156, 143—450 had the best score.

R. Gee rolled 305, R. Mahoney hit 539 which included a 214, and A. Gritman rolled 547 which included a 207, to give the Mackerel three games over the Herring. A. Sauter had the best score for the Herring with a 454 series.

The Whales took three games from the Bluefish overcoming a 227 to 124 handicap to do it. J. Harg rolled 819 for the Whales, Walter 516. The winners totaled more than 800. Little help from the losers, Dr. Conroy rolling 339, Prim 202, and Fountain 350.

Sturgeon found a 140 to 0 handicap too much in two games and dropped them to the Bass. The scores were 838 to 787, 829 to 816. The Sturgeon won the second game 554 to 527 when Strutz rolled 199, Felt 210 and Tillman 192. Felt had a 566 series.

Trout beat the Tarpon in two games taking advantage of an 89 to 8 handicap. Bents had a 602 for the Trout, Mellen a 523 for the Tarpon. Salmon lost two to the Halibuts despite a 537 by J. Schneider, a 512 by W. Timmer and a 533 by L. Rechner. Stogbauer had a 336 for the Halibuts.

Neenah ..... 890 897 923 2710
Appleton ..... 801 914 886 2705
Kraft Cheese bowlers of Appleton rolling in the Midwest league won two games from the First National Bank of Neenah Sunday. After dropping the first game by a score of 890 to 801 the Appleton team scored the second 914 to 897 behind the 210 of Brecklin. In the third game trade the owner of the club will be willing to make a monetary dicker for insiders.

For a long time the Pirates have been at a lower ebb at first base than elsewhere, although the rest of the infield needs strengthening also. It seems odd that no permanent addition to the team has been found for first base. The greatest fill found has seemed to pursue the team since the days when Kippie Brandis' was one of the leading first basemen of the majors.

Tried Suhr at Post
Gus Suhr was obtained from the Pacific coast league. He began fairly well and then fell off in his batting. Jewel Ens, the former manager, maintained that Suhr was better, than the fans thought he was, because Suhr was good at batting in runs. In 1930 Suhr batted in 167 runs. There were only two first basemen who surpassed him in that run. In 1930 Suhr batted in 167 runs. There were only two first basemen who surpassed him in that run. In 1930 Suhr batted in 167 runs. There were only two first basemen who surpassed him in that run.

Signed By Giants
Terry had no managerial experience. He has signed his 1932 contract and there will be no argument between him and the Giants about his reporting at the spring training camp next year. The Giants have a notion they can win the pennant next year and intimations come from headquarters that he will not be allowed to leave the team, although it is said the Pittsburgh club would not hesitate to offer big inducements to get a player for first base who could fill that gap of long standing which has caused many a headache in its camp.

GLENN DRILLS BACKS ON HOW TO TACKLE

Schiller Out of Illinois Game; Goldenberg Also on Injured List

Madison (AP)—Suggesting a determination to have backs who can tackle as well as carry the ball, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite shook up the Wisconsin backfield yesterday in preparation for the Illinois game.

In the game with Pennsylvania a Quaker back got through the line and shook off the Badger secondary defense to score a touchdown on a long run. A week later at Minneapolis, Manders crashed through the line and did the same thing.

The Badgers, if predictions run true, will have new faces in the backfield. Clair Strain, the sophomore fullback who has thrown most of the completed passes this season, Paul Westcott, Russ Rehbold and Jim Wimmer warmed up as the backfield combination behind the second string line yesterday and that may be part of the combination for Illinois.

Bobby Schiller, the fleet sophomore halfback who has shown up the veterans, is out for a good week or so with an injured leg. He will make the trip to Illinois in the hope that his leg will mend sufficiently to permit play in the homecoming tilt with Ohio State the following weekend.

The absence of "Buckets" Goldenberg, blocking quarterback, from practice yesterday elicited no comment from coaches. In view of this Coach Thistlethwaite may decide to try Pip Nelson or Jim Wimmer as Goldenberg's post next Saturday as an experiment. Capt. Hal Smith, tackle, and Doug Simmons, center, both of whom were kept out of the Minnesota game with injuries are expected to be fit for the Illini.

VIKINGS PREPARE FOR CARROLL GAME

Invaade Waukesha for Second Encounter of Season With Pioneers

With the bruises and bumps of the homecoming game all healed and with a week's rest to get caught up on studies and a few football pointers, Lawrence college gridlers last night resumed drills and prepared for the last two games on the schedule.

Saturday afternoon the Vikings will go to Waukesha for a game with Carroll college eleven, the contest being the second this season, and Carroll's homecoming. The Pioneers were defeated here a couple weeks ago 14 and 6 and since have been lamasted by every club in the Big Four.

The Waukesha team has plenty of potential strength but hasn't been able to click without the directing genius of Norris Armstrong. However the club may prime for Saturday's battle with Lawrence and rise to great heights for the homecoming.

A win for the Vikings will give Lawrence the only Big Four win this season and a record of two victories. The Vikings end the season on Nov. 14 with Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., here. The game will be a charity contest.

The Cheese smacked the maple with reckless abandon, Brecklin getting a 212, Mitchell a 213, Beck 202, and Currie 224. Schabo's 135 kept the cheese from getting over the 1,000 mark.

Pierce had high score for the Neenah Keglers with 432, 234, 243—669. For the Appleton team Brecklin hit 532, Mitchell 534, and Currie 573.

Newark, N. J. — Jay Maceodon, Newark, knocked out Ruby Goldstein, New York (7).

Barney Dreyfus Still Seeks Manager For Bucs

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright, 1931

NEW YORK (AP)—Rumors that Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was planning to lure Memphis Bill Terry away from the New York Giants to become his manager, were virtually spiked today by strong intimations from the Giants' headquarters that their first baseman will not be allowed to leave the team.

The rumors have been growing of late, fed upon the announcement from Dreyfus that he will not name his 1932 manager until the December meeting of the National league in this city. The Pittsburgh owner has been planning a change for some time and he has been making overtures to obtain the kind of man he would like to have in charge of his team.

By Gordon R. McIntyre

Martin's Salary?

JOHN LEONARD "PEPPER"
J. MARTIN played baseball during 1931 for a salary of $4,500. In the world series he was an outstanding hero, an extra attraction that drew thousands to the parks in St. Louis and Philadelphia. For this he will be rewarded with a raise in pay for 1932. How much? Not much. If his salary for next year is more than $7,500 Pepper can, and probably will, consider himself treated as well as could be expected.

Back to the Coach

Boston University discovered in a few minutes the other day that "going the game back to the boys" was a dangerous experiment. In the game with De Pauw at Greencastle, Ind., Coach Hilary F. Mahoney was supposed to sit in the stands and let the players operate themselves. The plan got by only for the first quarter. Two Boston players were seriously injured and the coach was recalled to supervise the team. One of the drawbacks to giving the game back to the boys is the individual's unwillingness to quit the game when further playing might endanger his life.

Tulane's Greatest

The expert opinion of observers rates this year's Tulane team as one of the greatest ever produced in the south. After the game in which his Georgia Tech eleven was beaten 53 to 0, Coach Bill Alexander described the Green Wave as the greatest team he ever had seen and the best in the country today. Pili has seen a lot of good ones in his time, including his own productions. Alexander's opinion was substantiated by Jack Cannon, famous 1929 guard at Notre Dame, who is coaching now at Tech.

Ripon Claims Two Football Crowns

Ripon (AP)—Football championships of two conferences, the Midwest and Big Four, are claimed by Ripon college for the second time in three years. Ripon's conference, campaigns closed Saturday with a 33 to 0 victory over Carroll in a Big Four game.

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

CHAPTER 12
 NEW FIELDS
 OTHER, how marvellous. What made you think of that all at once?"

Venice suddenly saw Paris of the lovely seductive spring, certain pictures in the Louvre, certain shops in the Faubourg St. Honore. A quick excitement and anticipation abruptly lifted her from out the rut into which she was slowly sinking. She had hated this last winter with a growing bitterness and an aching regret.

Well, there's no doubt about it, dear home, you're a dismal failure socially! Venice winced. "Your self-consciousness grows with your defeat. Paris would give you an entirely new start. I have several friends living there and your cousin Alicia Pos has a villa at Antibes. I thought we might go somewhere near there for the summer."

Venice was a little disappointed. It was not going to be new scenes to enjoy in her own way but new fields to conquer in her mother's way.

"You needn't feel self-conscious there. I'll be a fresh beginning and I expect you to do your utmost and benefit by it in every possible manner."

"Yes," said Venice. It was true. She could make a new start.

"I'll try," she promised and her tone was cheerful and bright with optimistic pictures of herself in Paris surrounded by dapper young French, English and American men. The mere fact that she was from far away would lend her something perhaps of that veil of mystery that was Ann Duryea's. New hope assailed her.

The next few weeks were accompanied by all the hurry, bustle and latent excitement attendant on a European departure.

Nolly was bitterly disappointed at Venice's going but her pleased excitement in Venice's prospects exceeded hers.

"Just think," she cried, "you'll have counts and all sorts of things."

"Of course I won't. And besides my French is very bad. How's your doctor, Nolly?"

"Most awfully nice. He's getting to be really a friend of mine. I think it was your velvet dress that did it. He's coming to see me tomorrow night. That's the second time since mother and father and I dined with him."

"He's a bona fide beau, Nolly."

"Yes." There was something in Nolly's eyes that gave Venice a quick stab of envy. It was a soft, deep look like the look Lola's eyes had held when she stared at Jerry.

"Do you love him?" Venice asked with sudden crudity from out her heart.

"I think so. But, Venice, you mustn't say anything ever to any one about it. I don't know how he feels about me. But—oh, I'm mad about him. He's a fine fellow, thin and remembering his wrongs, thin and the way his hair grows around his forehead and all sorts of very little things. But no one would ever want to marry me with Pongo."

Her face suddenly worked. It was terrible because she tried so valiantly to control it. She caught her lower lip between her teeth. Her expression went all twisted and broke up with the welling of tears. She covered her eyes with her hands and began to cry miserably.

Venice sat there arms around her. "Don't Nolly, darling, please, don't go just much compared to all the rest of you that's so sweet."

Nolly's tears stopped as unexpected as they had started. She looked up bravely with a watery smile.

"I'm s. y.," she said. "You don't have to marry anyway to be happy."

"No," agreed Venice. But she wondered here was a new fear that had never come to her before.

As she turned away the way when one goes forward to a certain date time drags interminably and it seems as if you've started. Then suddenly it pops. To view its proportions magnified. So the morning of the Muir's date for sailing arrived.

I can't believe it's here, reflected Venice and snapped the lock of her trunk. She looked across the room and wondered if the little Japanese figures on lacquered bed and table and desk would miss her. What monotonous lives—always crossing bridges. But wasn't that all life was anyway? Crossing bridges.

The telephone started her.

"Hello."

"Hello, Venice. It's Drake."

"Oh," she could feel the colour creeping up her face. "I— What should she say?"

"Did you think I'd shuffled off these mortal coils forever?"

"Just about." She laughed. She knew that quick easing of her shy knees that he had sent her before. "What a business trip! Did you go to Hongkong, by chance?"

"No. I've been back a couple of months but my father had double pneumonia. Now all is well. May I see you tonight?"

"Oh, Drake, we're fated to never meet face to face. Mother and I are sailing for Europe tonight."

"No! How inconsiderate! But we're not fated. What time do you scramble up the gangplank?"

His evident interest went to her head like sudden wine. Words tumbled off her tongue.

"Kind sir, I never scramble. I walk with dignity and grace."

She heard his gay, infectious laugh.

"Excellent. It gives me a picture of a svelte smooth walking. What time do you glide aboard?"

"Midnight."

"Let me come at eight thirty then and defy the Fates. As they say in our corrupt country—'oke'?"

"Oke," laughed Venice.

Mrs. Muir was very much annoyed at this engagement.

"We must be—here at half-past nine," she insisted.

"All right, mother." Venice knew Mrs. Muir was always nervous and flustered prior to catching a boat or a train. But it gives us an hour sang Venice's mind.

"Who is this young man anyway?"

"The son of a friend of Mrs. Goodby's. I met him at Lola's cocktail party."

"He's probably some one then. But I never heard of the name Farrelly."

Venice smiled. How damning, she thought humorously.

After dinner she hurried to her room to survey herself in the mirror, add powder and lipstick, recomb her hair.

"Mr. Farrelly, Miss Venice."

"I'll be right there, Nora."

Venice hurried excitedly to the living room. Mrs. Muir was engaged in conversation with Drake. Venice could see as her footsteps lagged disappointedly that her mother was mentally examining him to see if he were a suitable companion for the progeny of Stuyvesant Muir and a Virginia Lee.

"Hello, Drake."

"How are you, Venice?" They shook hands. It was stiff and uncomfortable. Not the way Venice had imagined things at all. Shyness engulfed her.

"Mr. Farrelly's mother was a Norton," beamed Mrs. Muir. "Ruth Norton. I believe she and your father went to dancing school together."

"How nice," said Venice, taking a large chair facing the deep sofa where they sat. She felt miserably self-conscious.

"Mother says she was a scraggy-looking girl," Drake remarked. He seemed to understand Venice's discomfort. His yellow amber eyes smiled at her and there was a slight crinkling of the small lines at their corners.

"Unattractive girls often turn into the most charming women," Mrs. Muir vouchsafed.

"Yes," said Venice. Her eye wandered unhappily to the old grandfather clock in one corner. Five minutes of nine.

"And it was a beautiful child," grinned Drake.

Nora was hovering in the doorway.

"Shall I close your bags, Mrs. Muir?" she ventured apologetically.

"Is everything in?" suggested Venice. Perhaps her mother would have to hurry to see if everything was in.

Mrs. Muir rose hastily.

"I must see," she said. "Good-bye, Mr. Farrelly. I hope we'll see you when we return."

"You will," Drake assured her retreating back.

Venice finds something in Drake's visit that gives her a feeling of interesting future developments, on Monday.

Tennessee had 21,851 boys and girls enrolled in crop and livestock projects this year.

FIGURES HINT AT LOW POINT IN DEPRESSION

Improvement in Current Quarter Looked for as New Factors Appear

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York.—(C.P.A.)—Figures presented Monday indicate what may possibly prove to be the low point in the business depression covering as they do corporation reports for the third quarter of the year. Fortunately, it is possible to look for an improvement in results in the current quarter under the influence of the several constructive developments that have occurred since the end of September.

The analysis made by the National City bank and appearing in its monthly review covers the statements of 249 companies engaged in major industries and retail trade. The aggregate net profits of these concerns, after all charges but before dividends, were approximately $37,000,000. This compares with $167,000,000 in the June quarter and with $121,000,000 in the three months ending March 31. In the September quarter of 1930 these same companies had net profits of $192,000,000, showing, therefore, a decrease this year of over 49 per cent from the results of a year ago.

Analysis by Moody

The second analysis is that of Moody's Investors Service which appeared Monday and which indicates that earnings of 157 industrial companies in the September quarter were 53.7 per cent lower than in the same period of 1930. The Moody survey also covers the results of 403 concerns, including public utilities, for the first nine months of this year indicating that the net profits of this very considerable group were off 37 1/2 per cent for the period. Another list which embraces 174 large industrial corporations showed a loss of 45.1 per cent for the nine months.

This compares with a nine months decrease for 295 industrial companies reported in the National City bank circular of 47 per cent. The largest shrinkages in this group are those in iron and steel, amounting to 81.2 per cent, mining 87.1 per cent, machinery 65 per cent, automobiles 58 per cent, electrical equipment 46.2 per cent and printing and publishing 40.2 per cent. The Petroleum industry for nine months showed a deficit of $10,468,000 compared with a profit of $10,468,000 in the same period of 1930. The smallest losses were in food products amounting to 14 per cent, merchandising slightly under 10 per cent, restaurant chains a little over 15 per cent and chemicals 20.3 per cent.

Profits Drop Faster

It was pointed out in the National City bank analysis that profits for the first nine months of this year were at the annual rate of 4.9 per cent on a book net worth amounting at the beginning of 1931 to $10,585,000,000. This compares with profits of 24 per cent in the first nine months of 1930. A chart which accompanies this analysis indicates that, since 1929, the decline in profits of corporations has been much more severe than the drop in the business. This bears out the testimony of many manufacturers and merchandisers that the serious factor in their business is not so much the decline in turnover as in the net dollar result from this turnover. In contrast with the decline in profits of industrial companies is the stability of the item of net worth. This is shown to be slightly higher in 1931 than in 1930 for the companies under review. Out of 24 different groups, 16 show a larger net worth than last year. Thirteen show a reduced net worth. One is unchanged. For instance, the net worth of 12 chemical companies has increased 10.7 per cent, that of 17 iron and steel concerns has advanced over 3 per cent, of 19 petroleum companies over 4 per cent, of four railway equipment corporations over 5 per cent, and of 15 food products companies 2.8 per cent.

The largest decline was that of 10 per cent in 12 automobile companies other than the General Motors own network increased.

All of this reemphasizes what has been clear in so many 1931 corporation balance sheets, namely that reserves of cash and marketable securities have been built up during a period of declining net profits. The consistency with which dividends have been paid while earnings were decreasing is an expression of the fundamental strength of scores of American corporations today.

Freed From Pen

Escaping from a prison farm 15 years ago and since living a model life at Mason City, W. Va., Charles Cundiff, above, was freed by Governor George White of Ohio after a tipster had "turned him in" and had him sent back to the state penitentiary at Columbus, O. Cundiff was originally sentenced for wounding a man during a quarrel. Citizens of Mason City, W. Va., rallied to his aid.

was called as the first witness at the trial this morning.

Symptoms of Poisoning

Dr. Pfeiffer testified that both men were dead when he arrived at the scene about 11:30 and that it was his opinion that death was caused by strychnine poisoning. He said this conclusion was drawn from symptoms shown by both the bodies. On cross examination the defense was stopped when Judge Park ruled that Dr. Pfeiffer would have to be recalled as a defense witness if the defense wanted to continue its examination along a certain line. Dr. Pfeiffer was then dismissed and it was not announced by the defense whether he would be recalled or not.

The prosecution, following Dr. Pfeiffer's testimony, started to read from the autopsy report of Dr. E. L. Nioslavich, Milwaukee pathologist. However, Judge Park halted the reading and suggested that the report be introduced as prosecution exhibit A. This was done. Dr. Nioslavich's report told of the finding of strychnine in the vital organs of the two men.

This action was the last before the trial was halted for the noon recess. The case was to be resumed this afternoon. At the close of the session Judge Park ordered that no spectators would be permitted to stand in the courtroom during the afternoon or previous sessions.

Court Room Filled

It was one of the largest crowds ever seen in the Waupaca-county house. They were all anxious to hear the testimony at the first murder trial in 15 years. The last murder trial in the county was that of Grover Krusback Marion, in 1915, when he was acquitted.

Riske, who has been held in the Waupaca jail since his arrest on July 4, was one of the witnesses at the coroner's inquest into the deaths of the two men at New London on July 6. At that time he concerned himself chiefly with denying testimony of other witnesses. He did admit, however, that he had been attentive to Mrs. Hoffman and frequently took her out. He also admitted having at one time promised her $50 to get a divorce from her husband. The coroner's jury, which was out only 10 minutes, brought in a verdict which read:

"Louis Hoffman and Louis Kopitzke came to their death from strychnine poisoning by unlawful means at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

On the day before the inquest Mrs. Hoffman took her life by drowning in the Wolf river. Her body was recovered the same day and a coroner's jury, investigating her death, held that she "came by her death by drowning, with suicidal intent."

Following the coroner's inquest, Riske, who had been arrested on July 4, and held without charge up to that time, was formally charged with first degree murder.

afternoon to tell her they heard a gunshot. The mother said the children were timid about firearms and were frightened.

"These are bright children," said the prosecutor, "and I believe their story implicitly." He convinced the children have uncovered something important in this investigation.

Believes Door Open

The district attorney assumed it would have been impossible for the Nite children to have heard the gunshot if the door of Koehring's coupe had been tightly closed. He advanced the theory someone pursued the Milwaukeean, crowded him off the highway, ran to the stalled automobile and shot the manufacturer with his own rifle which he had taken with him for a hunting trip before going to the Twin Cities on business.

Dorothy and Eloise Rohde, sisters, weakened the theory that Koehring might have been shot by a passer-by in his car. They said they saw Koehring drive into Mauston, en route from St. Paul to Milwaukee, and noted that he was alone. They said, and took particular note of the machine because of the high rate of speed at which it was traveling. Another car trailed closely behind, they said.

Despite the new developments in the case, Coroner Roy J. Pharo, who has empaneled a jury for the inquest to be held Thursday, held steadily to the belief that Koehring shot himself. Sheriff Elmer Hempleman said he was continuing his inquiry "until the case is cleared up."

The sheriff and prosecutor were waiting for developments in Milwaukee of an investigation of threatening letters recently received by Koehring, presumably from men discharging from employment in his road construction equipment factories.

FINANCIAL QUESTION INVOLVED IN SMITH BROWN DERBY MODE

New York.—(C.P.)—With Al Smith it has come down to a question of catching a cold in the head, or taking a firm stand on this brown derby by issue.

He has chosen the latter alternative. The man who made the hard lid of milk chocolate his famous trademark, and who has been the subject of much autograph specimens for worthy causes, but he's through buying them except for his own wear. To send a derby to every one who asked would "cost more than I make," he says.

It all started during the last presidential campaign.

Since then the demand has not fallen. Smith's derby has passed through some admirer's hands, and has been raffled off at a church bazaar. His secretary recalls only one who sent the price of the hat.

Once, during his western campaign swing, two Milwaukee men traded him a dog for one of the derbies.

"But it was a mutt, you know," Milwaukee sausage hound" the former governor said.

BACKWARD STUDENT RELEGATED TO PAST

Modern Educational Policy Adapts Self to Ability, P. T. A. Told

The backward student, the student who "skips" grades, and the glorified errand-running child have been relegated to the past, according to Miss Mary K. Roberts, grade school supervisor at Fond du Lac, who discussed the subject, "The Parent and the New School" at the First Ward Parent-Teacher's association meeting Monday evening.

Miss Roberts illustrated the ideals and the purpose of new education methods by the generally accepted thought of the child with her experiences with children in her own school work.

"Under the old system," Miss Roberts said, "school was simply a teaching of the three R's. Capable students pushed ahead while those who were unable to grasp their lessons were given a spanking."

The new school policy adapts itself to the ability of the students, according to Miss Roberts. A capable reader today in modern schools is excused from the subject and allowed to work on an advanced project as an impetus to his creative ability. She pointed out that the subnormal child is taken care of in extra-curricular courses such as arts, manual training and domestic science.

"In such courses as these," Miss Roberts said, "the student unconsciously brings his defective subnormality to the normal standard of his grade."

Miss Katherine Uglow, vocal instructor in the public schools, presented three solo numbers after the routine business meeting. She was accompanied by Miss Gertrude Farrel of Lawrence conservatory. Mothers of the third grade were in charge of the refreshments and social hour that followed the address.

Rail Labor Asks Confab Over Wages

In executive session, will continue through tomorrow. Twenty-eight subjects are up for discussion.

Unemployment, described as the most important topic, was discussed at length before the resolution was adopted. With $30,000,000 railway employees idle, the labor representatives felt that action should be taken immediately to relieve this condition. Maintenance of the existing wage scale was not mentioned specifically in the resolution, but the organization warned last July that it would oppose to the utmost any attempt to reduce salaries.

Earnings Reduced

"The economic conditions affecting the operations of any employment on the railroads," the resolution said, "have changed materially in the current year, and the earnings of railroad employees and the amount of available employment have been reduced severely."

"The employees of all the railroads face the urgent need for the adoption of measures which may provide, not only temporary relief, but assurance of future rehabilitation of employment and relief from continuing reductions of employment and cyclical periods of grave unemployment."

Under the resolution, the conference would consider and adopt recommendations on "any proposals affecting railway operation which railway managements desire to advance and any proposals, including present proposals, which may be presented for the purpose of securing employment and stabilization of employment, which this association desires to advance."

BOY RECOVERS FROM INJURIES RECEIVED IN BASEBALL GAME

The condition of Eugene Spaulding, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Spaulding, Shiocton, who is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital with a fractured skull received last Wednesday afternoon when he was struck by a baseball bat, is much improved, according to the attending physicians. The boy is expected to leave the hospital in a few days.

The Spaulding boy was playing baseball during recess hour at the Elmwood school, and while sliding into home plate, after slamming a home run, was hit on the head with the bat in the hands of a playmate. There were six lines of fracture in the youngster's skull, the attending physician stated.

WHEAT PRICES DECLINE AFTER EARLY RALLIES

Faced by Two-sided Market—Heavy Selling Develops in Late Trade

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN

Chicago.—(C.P.)—For the first time since a restricted market developed in wheat today, and price swings were suddenly backward after surpassing top price records established only 24 hours before. Rallies were numerous, but minus the sustained rise that previously appeared to have almost no limit. The action of the market was in line with opinions generally expressed by trade experts that a reaction from the recent extraordinary advance was overdue.

Outlying corn more the season's previous quotations, what soon climbed to 20 cents above where the rise started on Oct. 5. For at least the time being, official denials that Russia would no longer be an export country for little as against wheat that the Liverpool market was excited because actually wheat prices from Russia continued to rise, and also because of a new crop of wheat in North America and Argentina a well known fact.

A further incentive to speculation was widespread notice of reports that a nationally known trader was actively promoting the upward swing of the market.

Extremely heavy selling of wheat developed on the new arrivals at a slight reaction, and to a cent under yesterday's close, of more than 2 cents from today's early top. Accompanying the price setbacks were indications that little or no wheat export business from North America had been put through overnight. Besides late quotations from Liverpool were also quoted from Chicago and kept figures fairly narrow limits, but generally high when the market closed.

Provided as rose and fell with grain.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY

The Great Northern Railway Company operates about 2,400 miles of road through Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth to the Pacific Coast. With the Northern Pacific, it owns the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company which in turn control the Colorado and Southern. These lines give direct connection to Chicago, Kansas City and Denver and an outlet to the Gulf of Mexico. Efforts to merge the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railway companies and Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway Company have been abandoned owing to inability to finance the stock of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company as was directed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Net income of the company in 1930 amounted to $13,038,748. This compared with $25,463,551 in 1929. The company has a large number of subsidiaries. On the first of this year the company had over 55,000 freight cars, and 1,162 steam and electric locomotives.

Funded debt totals $224,936,000. Capital stock outstanding includes $248,932,450 in preferred stock of $100 par value. No common stock has ever been issued. The rate on the preferred is 4 1/2 per cent.

As of January 1, 1931 total current assets were $26,761,170, current liabilities amounted to $35,136,949 and working capital was $30,624,490. Book value applicable to the capital stock amounted to $152.50 a share.

SUNDAY MARKS BUSY DAY FOR CITY CHURCHES

Many Meetings of Religious Organizations Scheduled for Week

Reformation day services, Holy Communion, Forty hours devotion, observance of All Saints day, confirmation and baptisms make Sunday a busy day in Appleton churches opening a week filled with church council, Ladies Aid and Brotherhood meetings.

Forty Hours devotion closed at St. Joseph church Sunday, and in all Catholic churches and the Episcopal church All Saints day was observed. On Monday, All Saints day, special masses were said for the souls of the departed, the souls of those who lost their lives in battle, and for the special intentions of Pope Pius XI. Special masses for plenary indulgence were said in all Catholic churches. Next Sunday all members of H. V. Nations will receive Holy Communion in a body.

Reformation services were held at all Lutheran churches Sunday morning. The Rev. William E. P. of the Lutheran Theological seminary in Chicago talked on the value of the reformation to both the church and the state. The English Lutheran church. The English Lutheran met Monday evening. The Luther League will meet Tuesday evening and the missionary society Thursday afternoon. On Thursday four or five members of the Luther League will go to Racine to attend the annual state convention of the league.

Holy Communion was celebrated at the German Reformation service at St. John church. The Women's union will meet Thursday afternoon. On Monday, Nov. 9, the Rev. J. C. Koenig, Evangelical missionary from India, will speak at St. John church under the auspices of the Brotherhood.

The Christian Endeavor will meet at the Herman Meyer home, N. Division St. Wednesday evening, and on Nov. 17 they will sponsor a chicken supper and county fair.

Auto Industry Expects To Lead Way To Prosperity

Detroit—(AP)—It long has been a tradition in the automobile industry that it is first to feel the effects of an industrial decline and first to recover. Many of Michigan's business leaders believe the motor car industry will lead the way again as it did in the past.

No small part of the feeling that better days are at hand is based upon the impending presentation of new models by a majority of the automobile manufacturers. Many of these new types already are in process of construction while others are to come off the production lines within the next few weeks. The effect of this new model production already has been felt in related industries that supply tools and parts for the various motor car makers. Its effect upon employment will come shortly when all the makers planning new types put them into production.

Preliminary showings of some of the new models disclose why the industry's leaders are depending so confidently upon them to supply the impetus needed to thaw out a frozen motor car market. Apparently everything the industry has been able to do in engineering improvement has been incorporated in the new cars.

Coupled with the impending appearance of new models is the fact that the motor car industry has cleared its decks in preparation for a vigorous sales campaign. Virtually no surplus stock will be in dealers' hands when the new cars are formally presented.

The faith of the Ford Motor company in the future of the motor car industry is shown by its expenditure of $2,000,000 for the installation of additional equipment for the salvaging of worn-out motor cars. The company is reclaiming metal in used cars more than a year ago. New machinery to provide scrap metal essentially to the making of steel is being installed that will make it possible to sell one old car to the melting pot every minute.

The steel of Michigan's contribution to the general effort to hasten the return of normal conditions is a $100,000,000 highway program already in the way to be launched by future legislation to the weight and machine taxes. The program requires that at least 10 per cent of the workmen must be employed from the list of unemployed in the country where the improvements are being made.

Several of the state's public utilities corporations are going ahead with conservation programs that, although not as large as in some previous years, indicate a faith in the restoration of consumer demand generally.

In Detroit preparations are being made for the raising of the old post office building to make way for a new $200,000,000 structure. The present building already has been vacated.

In Battle Creek the Kellogg company has instituted the six-hour day in its plants to give employment to more workers and fixed a $4 a day minimum wage. From Muskegon the Continental Motors corporation announced an improvement in demand for its product and at Jackson the Sparks Withington company has taken on additional workers with its entry into the electric refrigeration field.

Several other cities have reported a more optimistic outlook on the part of their major industries.

PLAY BASEBALL ALL YEAR TO BE EXPERT. BABE RUTH ADVISES

Hollywood, Calif. —(AP)—The big league baseball players of the future, in the belief of George Herman Ruth, will come mainly from the sandlots of the south, the southwest and the west where baseball can be played throughout the year.

The "Big Babe" is here to start with a series of short films explaining how he plays the game and does those things with a bat.

"A kid who wants to be a ball player has to start early," says Ruth, "and work hard at it. I was playing ball almost as soon as I could run and you can't make a good ball player in just a few years."

College baseball is not contributing much to the leagues, and will not in the future, declares the Babe. One reason being that the college ball player usually goes in for other sports, including football, and is burned out athletically by the time he finishes school.

Ruth, in the game 18 years, wants to make it an even 20 before he quits. Asked if he would like to own a club then, he said, "No, but I might manage one. And I want to take things easy for a while, too, when I do quit."

FIND SMALL TOWNS HOLDING OWN IN POPULATION GAINS

Outagamie-co Municipalities Experience Good Growth

Madison—(AP)—The majority of Wisconsin's small towns are holding their own in the race for population, according to a study of 1930 census figures by Prof. H. R. Doering of the University of Wisconsin extension division.

"Insofar as present trends can be projected into the future, small towns will continue for some time to be important distributors of state products for most people do not go long distances to buy such things," Prof. Doering said.

Towns from 4,000 to 10,000 in population are making substantial progress and cities over 10,000 have grown faster than the average incorporated community in the state, the study revealed. However, nearly 60 per cent of the state's villages up to 1,000 in population are falling behind, while more than two-thirds of the villages from 800 to 4,000 are barely holding their own.

Eighty-eight villages in the 100 to 500 class, reported decreases in population amounting to 11.7 per cent for the entire group; 61 reported increases amounting to 13.4 per cent for the group, and the net population change for all communities in the group represented a decrease of 2.1 per cent.

The net increase in cities and villages by population groups over 500 (rounded off to 500) was:

500 to 1,000	1.5%

CAR OWNERS MAY APPLY FOR 1932 LICENSES

Thousands of owners of motor cars in Outagamie-co are receiving thanks a week from Theodore Dammann, secretary of state, on which the deadline of application for licenses for 1932. These may be applied for any time after Oct. 31.

According to the new law, application may be made after Oct. 31 and all cars must have 1932 licenses by Feb. 1. Previously, March 15 was the deadline and this year it was extended into May. The penalty for failure to have proper licenses by Feb. 1, is a fine not to exceed $100 not less than $10. Added to costs is a $2 informer's fee, which brings the minimum fine to $15.70.

License plates must remain upon the vehicle for which they are issued until plates for the succeeding year are received and attached. The penalty for violation of this provision is a fine not to exceed $20 and not to be less than $50.

Attention is called to the increase in fees for heavier cars. Automobiles weighing between 4,000 and 4,500 pounds must carry license costs of $24; 4,500 to 5,000 pounds, $36; and 5,000 or more pounds, $48.

The new plates are blue numerals on yellow background. The name of the state is spelled out in full on the top. If a license has been discontinued, the new plates are much wider than the old.

NO REHEARINGS NEEDED IN OLD AGED CASES

There will be no rehearing of old age pension cases on the lists in Outagamie-co on Jan. 1, 1932, as a result of the new law requiring that persons receiving such aid shall turn over to the county the property they possess, according to County Judge Fred V. Heilmann. Rehearings will be made in Winnebago, and along Judge D. E. McDonald of the Winnebago court.

The rehearings will not be necessary here, Judge Heilmann said, because this county has always followed the practice of having those receiving aid turn over title to the county of any property they possess. However, those turning over such property are given lifetime use of it and the county does not take possession until after the death of such individuals.
